“The highest education is that which does not merely give us information but brings our life in harmony with all existence.” - Rabindranath Tagore

Inspired by this vision, we endeavour to nurture not only informed minds but also sensitive hearts. In this spirit, students are encouraged to contribute their old books for the benefit of the less privileged, thereby translating learning into an act of compassion. Books may be deposited in the respective Segment Libraries.

Such thoughtful participation strengthens the values of empathy, sharing and social responsibility that lie at the core of true education.
